Crime rise fears over cuts to police teams

Tales of global travels

STUDENTS who visited the hot and steamy jungles of Belize and the Caribbean coast of Mexico during a trip of a lifetime have been telling their classmates about their adventures.

After 18 months of planning and fundraising, five students from Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill flew to Central America in July to take part in the World Challenge expedition. During their 32-day journey they witnessed an incredible diversity of geography, wildlife and culture – along the laidback Caribbean coast of Mexico, through jungles of Belize and up into the volcanic highlands of Gustamala

The highlight of the expedition was their five-day community project at a school in the Guaternalan mountains where they dug a 250-metre long trench to lay a water pipe to provide running water. The students camped at the school, learning about the local culture as they worked, as well as teaching the pupils English songs.

MOVES to cut the number of police officers assigned to Haverhill's safer neighbourhood teams could lead to an escalation in anti-social behaviour, a local lobby group fears.

Concerns that staffing levels on the teams are set to be cut were raised at a meeting of the Partnership Group Forum on Monday.

Speaking at the meeting, safer neighbourhood team officer Sonia Plume said she and three other sergeants in charge of the teams had been told they must reapply for their jobs. She has now been told that she will join the Bury Rural team from December.

Acting Sargeant Plume told the meet-

Acting Sargeant Plume told the meeting: "Originally we had five officers, but when one left we knew he would not be replaced.

"Recently we found out that another one had to go and we all had to apply for our jobs. I do not want to go, but I have no choice. I love working here and I really enjoy working on the safer neighbourhood team."

neignbourhood team."

Anne Gower, chairman of the partnership and a town councillor, said Haverhill was growing and needed the support of safer neighbourhood officers

She thanked Sgt Plume for her efforts. "On behalf of the partnership I would like to thank you. I am very, very sorry to see you go, I know how hard you have worked for the town."

Fellow councillor Maureen Byrne said: "I think it is a very sad situation to make these changes to the teams.

Teen's sex assault case adjourned

A 14-YEAR-OLD from Haverhill charged with sexual assault has had his case adjourned for two weeks by magistrates at Bury St Edmunds. The teenager, who cannot be named for legal reasons, appeared before Bury St Edmunds Youth Court on Wednesday when the charges against him were adjourned, without him making any plea, until Wednesday, September 24, due to lack of court time. He was arrested following an incident when a 40-year old woman was assaulted in Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, on Tuesday, August 26. He is also been charged with two counts of assault following incidents in Castle Walk on August 10 and Ash Grove on

Residents fail in fight to halt takeaway plan

A TAKEAWAY pizza shop has won approval from planners, despite vocal objections from local residents and Haverhill Town Council.

Change of use consent for the newly-built unit at Apple Acre Road, Haverhill, from a shop to hot food takeaway was given the green light by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee. control committee.

The committee's move goes against an earlier decision which removed the provision of a fast food takeaway in the row of three shops, adjacent to a residential home for the elderly, when it was first granted con-

The town council objected to the plans for the Domino's Pizza shop, citing concerns about the effect it would have on neighbouring residential properties through noise and odours, as well as disturbance from del-ivery vehicles and customer'

But it had welcomed the pizza firm's investment in the town and conceded the company had offered to meet concerned resi-

Neighbours had complained that the plan would lead to antisocial behaviour in the area, impact on a quiet residential area, increase litter, bring rats and extra traffic.

They also pointed out that there were already a large number of takeaways in the town which deliver. It would duplicate problems in other parts of the town and put pressure on an already over-stretched police

Residents were also angry that they had been told the premises would be purely for retail purposes and would not include fast food takeaway facilities.

The report to the development committee said environmental health and housing departments at the council raised no objections to the plan, as long as conditions were imposed relating to satisfactory extraction and ventilation systems and that the business did not open before 9am or after 11pm. It also said there should be no deliveries before 9am, after 6pm or on Sundays or Bank Holidays.

In recommending approval, the report said the takeaway was unlikely to cause more noise or disturbance than if it had been a normal retail shop.

The company had pointed out that most of its pizzas would be delivered, with few customers collecting them.

Concern over team changes

"We have had problems with antisocial behaviour, which the team had made a remarkable improvement on."

Town and borough councillor Margaret Marks said the group should lodge its protest about the cuts with police.

But West Area Commander, Chief Superintendent Paul Marshall said changes to the teams would mean officers would be exclusively engaged on safer neighbourhood duties and not diverted to

He said: "Safer neighbourhood teams have been under review this year. The review found that team officers weren't always given the time needed to deal with local community problems, but instead were driven by responding to calls and crime investigation.

"Changes are to be put in place over the next month which will see the balance of neighbourhood teams and response staff altered to give those on the teams more time to carry out their key role, and more officers on response to stop neighbourhood staff being pulled into calls and crimes."

He added: "In Haverhill, the two current safer neighbourhood teams will merge to form one new team, covering the whole town. The team will consist of a sergeant, three Pcs and three PCSOs.

"In addition, extra officers will be allocated to the response teams in Haverhill and the surrounding rural area, to support the work of the safer neighbourhood team.

The partnership group also raised concerns that yet another inspector had been appointed to the role, three months after the arrival of Inspector Andy Smith.

But the chief superintendent said Inspector Smith's appointment was only temporary for him to gain experience at that level. "He has led a variety of initiatives in the town, including the dispersal order and operations to combat drug dealing and misuse, theft from motor vehicles and burglaries, and this work will continue under new Inspector Andrew Mason.

Motorist abused by tailgater

A TAILGATING driver has been ordered to pay £270 compensation after running into the back of a car.

Aaron Jackson, 24, also threatened the other driver and damaged his window after the collision, a court heard

Jackson, of Moor Pasture Way, Great Wratting, admitted careless driving, criminal damage and threatening violence.

Judge David Cooper, sitting at Bury St Edmunds magistrates' court, banned him from driving for three months and ordered him to be electronically tagged to keep a curfew between 10pm-6am for three months. He was also ordered to pay compensation for repairs to the other driver's car.

The judge, reading from a summary of the case, said the other driver, Matthew Shanley, was travelling home to Kedington with his sister after working at Newmarket racecourse on Friday, August 8.

At the junction near Grampian Foods, the following car shunted Mr Shanley's forward as he was about to turn right.

Jackson turned left and was followed by Mr Shanley. Jackson stopped and walked back to Mr Shanley's car and was threatening. He grabbed the top of the driver's door window, damaging the mechanism.

Jenny Carpenter, defence solicitor, said Jackson maintained that Mr Shanley had triggered the collision when he slammed his brakes on. But Jackson accepted he was at fault for being too close.

He denied telling Mr Shanley and his sister: "You're lucky I didn't slit your throats."

She said he had been "incoherent".

I need your views on problems in schools

Sir, As part of Suffolk County Council's schools review, I am campaigning for a greatly needed special needs school in Haverhill to cater for children that are classed as high functioning: those of mainstream ability but still have specific learning difficulties.

Currently, there is no incounty specialist provision to support children and young people with social, emotional and behaviour difficulties (SEBD). The parents of these young people also need support.

In 2007/08 the council spent £2.46 million to fund 59 outof-county education placements, money that could be better spent to help more people to be better educated in this county.

I would like to invite your readers to contact me if any of the following apply:

■ Has anyone with special needs past school age or presently at school experienced problems at mainstream schools?

■ Has the school kept a written account of the problems you or your children had at school?

■ Did you have problems trying to get a statement of special needs, were the hours given kept to and did the teachers and classroom assistants have the training to carry out what was on the statement?

■ Do you know how many times you or your children were excluded from the classroom during lessons and how many detentions did they

■ Were you or your children expelled or threatened to be expelled from school?

■ Any other information you could give me that you think would be suitable? All information supplied will be used in the strictest of Sir, This is the third time that someone has damaged my car and driven off leaving me to pay for the repairs. On Sunday morning, I was parked on the Withersfield Road, opposite number 23, near to Crowland Road, when my wing mirror was smashed off by a passing vehicle.

The driver could not have failed to know that it had happened but they drove away without stopping. If anyone saw this happen and has knowledge of the person responsible I would be very grateful for information.

Mamma mia! More screenings on way!

MAMMA MIA madness has hit Haverhill.

Fans cannot get enough of the hit film and Haverhill Arts Centre has had to schedule seven extra performances just to keep up with demand.

The centre is currently selling about 60 tickets a day for the film, starring Meryl Streep and Pierce Brosnan, and based on the West End Nick Keeble, arts and leis ure manager for Haverhill Town Council, said: "Originally we had just one showing in August, which sold out very quickly, so we resp-onded by scheduling four more performances. These sold out within days so we added a further date and this sold out within 24 hours.

"It seems to be the 'feel-good factor' that's proving such a hit, everyone comes out saving how happy they feel. To avoid disappointing anvone who hasn't been able to see it so far, we have added another two performances.

Mamma Mia shows again on Sunday at 4pm and 7.30pm. Call (01440) 714140 but be quick about it, as tickets are selling fast.

New inspector's in for long haul

A NEW police inspector arrived to take over at the helm in Haverhill this week, with hopes to stay on for some time.

News of Inspector Andrew Mason's arrival reached Monday's meeting of the Haverhill Partnership Forum, where concerns were raised about the number of different in-spectors put in charge of the town over recent years.

But Insp Mason, who moved to the town on promotion from Babergh, where he was in charge of the Sudbury Safer Neighbourhood Team, said as a newly promoted inspector, the force would normally leave him in the one post for some time to establish his role. He hopes to be based in Haverhill for at least three years.

Insp Mason comes to Haverhill following the move of Insp Andy Smith to Forest Heath on promotion, where he will lead CID in the district as Detective Inspector.

Insp Mason has been a police officer for 13 years starting his career with Essex Police before mov-ing to Suffolk Constabulary in 2003. He returned from annual leave to find out about his promotion and started work in Haverhill on Tuesday.

Insp Mason said: "I hope to be here a long time and I have obviously taken over a very good, hard working team, so I hope to build on the good work done pre-

He also offered reassurances about the reduction of safer neighbourhood officers in Haverhill from four to three This would not affect their effective ness, he said, as in future those officers would be exclusively engaged on safer neighbourhood duties and not taken off for other role.

He added that two extra response officers would be appointed in October, so the town would actually have more officers to respond to emergencies.

He said: "As safer neighbourhood team sergeant in Sudbury, I led a number of initiatives, including a community action day and crime reduction operations, and I know that DI Smith has been working hard on similar projects

"I will be building on this excellent work by the staff in Haverhill, and engaging with the local community to decide future priorities to work on with partners, and to gain intelligence to help tackle criminal behaviour in the DI Andy Smith said: "In the three months I have been Haverhill inspector, my officers and staff have worked particularly hard to tackle problems assoc-iated with Class A drugs and associated criminality.

"We have executed a number of search warrants and utilised force wide resources in a consolidated day of action in enforce the dispersal order in the town and received some very positive feed-back from members of the public about the reduction in anti-social behaviour.

"Together with the safer neighbourhood teams and our partners, we have dealt with and responded swiftly to reports of anti-social behaviour in the town.

"We have also seen improvements in the overall detection rate for this district and this is a credit to the officers and staff at Haverhill police station."

Fire hero's story of Basra blaze bravery

utting out fires is all in a day's work for Trevor Jaeger - but his cool action while under attack from rocket fire in Basra saw him heralded a hero. Trevor. 47. has been a retained firefighter based at Haverhill Fire Station for the past 20 vears. He's also been an RAF reservist for just over two years, returning recently from a six-month operation in Iraa.

While serving at an operational base in Basra in June, he and another Suffolk retained firefighter, Peter Nicholson from Saxmundham, helped avert a major disaster by putting out a fire close to a generator and a fuel tank during a rocket attack.

The two sprung into action to fight the blaze for about 20 minutes until RAF firefighters arrived, even while rockets continued to fall around them.

Trevor, who previously spent seven years in the Royal Greenjackets Light Infantry regiment said they were relaxing over a milkshake after finishing their duties for the day when the fire started and their instincts immediately kicked in. He said: "The first thing

Demand up, funds down as CAB faces uncertain future

DESPITE a national "struggle for survival" and a possible 70 per cent reduction in funding, Haverhill and District Citizens Advice Bureau (CAB) is continuing to serve its local community well, according to its man-

Brigitte Haig told the group's annual general meeting that in the past year, volunteers provided work which could have cost more than £131,000.

But while residents of Haverhill and the surrounding villages appreciated help in dealing with their problems, CAB's future was very uncertain, with moves nationally to make bureaux tender for contracts to provide advice to vulnerable people. Unless they make a bid for the Government's new Community Legal Advice Centres, bureaux risk losing up to 70 per cent of their funding. Two bureaux had already lost out against rival bidders and were against rival places struggling to survive.

Ms Haig said: "While the struggle for survival is being played out at a national level, this bureau is set to further improve the access to clients, recruit more volunteers, continue to help volunteers return to paid employment and to find new funds to replace those lost in the recent round of grant cuts."

Chris Cadman, bureau chair-man, said the bureau was already set to lose £25,000 in funding over the next three years. It would need to find alternative sources of funding to make up the shortfall and avoid reducing services.

Mr Cadman said he was disappointed and frustrated at the lack of progress made in talks to merge or work more closely with other bureaux in the area.

He said: "I am extremely concerned abut the future. We don't know from one year to the next what our level of grant is going to

"We have been here for years working quietly in the back-ground, completely non-political, and I do fear for this in future."

The bureau has seen an overall 13 per cent increase in enquiries over the past year, with rises of more than 38 per cent for immigration inquiries and more than 37 per cent on housing. Debt advice continues to be a cause for

A New Friends of the Citizens Advice Bureau group is being formed to generate interest in the community and source new funding.

A CAB open day will also be held at its headquarters in the Lower Downs Slade centre on Wednesday, October 8 from 10am to 2pm.

■ Mr Cadman said the annual meeting marked the end of an era it was the last for Ron Hartley a trustee who had served the bureau for 21 years, many of them as chairman.

He said: "I am confident in stating that at the forefront of Ron's mind at all times has been ensuring that the best possible service is provided for the people of Haverhill. All of us at the bureau, both present and past, are indebted to Ron for the years of service given.

Advice charity hit by flood of debt

PIRALLING bills have seen the number of people struggling to pay back their debts soar across the region.

Citizens Advice Bureaux (CABs) across the county have seen a rise in residents asking for help as many find themselves unable to pay their mortgage and are at risk of losing their homes.

Advisers in Cambridge said they are "flooded" with inquiries. Spiralling debt problems account for a quarter of cases at Newmarket CAB, while Ely CAB saw a 133 per cent increase in the past year.

More middle class and older people are asking for help from the Citizens Advice Bureaux in Cambridgeshire as the credit crunch bites. But the charity is also feeling the pinch. RACHEL EXTANCE reports.

Robert Johnson, specialist team co-ordinator for debt at Cambridge CAB, said more 'middle class" people were coming through the door and he was also concerned about the number of older people with problems.

He said: "It's a flood We have always dealt with people on the bottom rung of the ladder, now we are seeing people higher up the ladder, more towards the middle class people, having serious debt problems.

He said while consumer debt still accounted for the majority of inquiries, those facing repossession were increasing.

Mr Johnson said: "We are seeing people coming from across the board now. It's worrying the number of older people we are getting in.

"We are seeing retired people who are still paving mortgages and that's a worrying trend.

"With the utilities going up so high, people are definitely not coping."

But while CABs across the area are seeing more people coming to them for help, some have money worries of their own.

Soham's Citizens Advice

Bureau, which operates from an office in Churchgate Street, is set to close next month after its £7,000-a-year funding was cut by Cambridgeshire County Council. But campaigners have called for the council to reinstate the allowance after new figures showed a sharp increase in those asking for advice on debt, housing and Statistics released last week show Ely CAB, which operates a one-day-a-week service, dealt with 408 clients with debt problems in the vear 2007/08 - an increase of 133 per cent on the 175 seen in the previous year.

The total number of people contacting the two CABs about debt was also up by 18 per cent – from 1,712 to 2,019 – due to rising redundancies and soaring living costs.

Beverley Howard, manager of Ely and Soham CAB, said: Demand for our services is increasing in difficult financial times, so it's a shame we have to reduce our services. We've also seen a significant increase in employment problems, with people coming to us for advice on redundancies. These problems are all signs that people are struggling.

Those facing repossession approached Newmarket CAB about debts totalling around £1.5 million in the past year. A report for the bureau's annual meeting said debt made up more than 23 per cent of inquiries.

Mr Johnson's advice to anyone facing debt problems is simple: "Get in touch as quickly as possible."

He said if people faced a range of debts, their first priority should always be the mortgage, adding: "Don't leave it until it's too late. Always deal with it as early as possible and tell creditors what you are doing."

Scheme has funding to give away

GRANTS worth a total of £750,000 are up for grabs in Cambridgeshire.

The Government's groundbreaking Grassroots Grants scheme has invited small local voluntary and community groups in the county to come forward and get their hands on essential funding.

Whether it's helping local clubs to get hold of new kit, coaching new volunteers or simply giving the village hall a fresh lick of paint, Grassroots Grants aim to make a difference to the work of Cambridgeshire's small and local community groups.

Cambridgeshire Community Foundation has been awarded £750,000 to make grants from between £250 to £5,000 in a straightforward and easy way, to voluntary and community groups with annual income below £20,000.

Businesses across Cambridgeshire were also invited to get involved through investing in the scheme's innovative endowment match challenge – the first of its # member for many years. Chief's bid to end energy inequities

A HOUSING group boss is calling on a local MP to back a campaign to stop energy firms hitting their poorest residents in the hip pocket.

Steve Cook, Havebury Housing Partnership's chief executive, is urging David Ruffley, Conservative MP for Bury St Edmunds, to raise the issue of pre-payment tariffs with Energy Minister Malcolm Wicks.

Pre-payment meter customers can pay up to £300 a year more for their gas and electricity than households who can access the best deals online, and up to £90 more than quarterly billed cust-suppliers to give them a "fairer" deal, but pre-payment charges remain high.

Mr Cook said: "People who use pre-payment meters often have to pay more than other consumers for their electricity and this is not fair.

"Havebury takes the welfare of its tenants very seriously and by highlighting this issue we hope to save them money and make their lives more comfortable.

"With energy prices increasing for the second time this year, it is time for Mr Ruffley to raise this issue with the energy minister as soon as possible. Prepayment meter customers can not afford to pay the most to heat and light their homes.'

Other housing associations have also written to their MPs as part of the National Housing Federation (NHF) campaign, which was rolled out across the country during Energy Action Week last week

Research carried out by the NHF last month found 14 per cent of gas pre-payment meter customers and 9 per cent of electricity pre-payment meter customers had "self disconn-ected" over the last year because they could not afford to top up their meter.

David Orr, chief executive of the NHF, said: "We've already had warm words from the Government on ending the prepayment meter premium. What we need now is firm action and that means bringing pre-payment tariffs into line with standard credit bills.

"If Government proposes any-thing less than that, it will be failing millions of low income energy customers."

He said: "I started with Computing for Beginners and then a bit more computing, but still my grandchildren found me floundering! When my neighbour enrolled for this course, I read the information and thought: 'I'll give that a go.

"I don't need the qualification, because I'm retired, but I do use computers at home. I send out letters for the Retirement Association that I belong to, and am now learning how to put pictures in them. I have done the Word Processing module and I am now doing Desktop Publishing.

Parents to take the plunge for pre-school

A BRAVE team of parents will be taking a giant leap out of a plane later this month to help raise money for their children's preschool

The parents will be taking part in a sponsored tandem parachute jump on Saturday, September 20, to raise funds for the muchneeded new building for Thurlow, Bradley and District Pre-School. Allan Wilsher, Wendy Yagir, Jamie Cooke, Darren Parsons and Joanne Hunt volunteered to take part in the fundraiser, to thank the pre-school for the service it provides for their children and the local community. The pre-school operates in the grounds of Thurlow Primary School and offers day care during school hours for children aged two to five.

The new purpose-built facility would remain on the primary school site but offer additional services, including after school and holiday care. It is hoped that the bulk of the project's funcing will come from a successful application to Suffolk County Council in October. The pre-school has already secured £20,000 of the required £200,000 from various donations and local grants, as well as the fundraising efforts of staff and parents of the pre-school. If the funding bid is successful, building work will begin in January 2009 and take around five months to complete. The new pre-school will be erected in a conservation area and so built to a traditional style that blends in with local Helen Frost, acting leader of the pre-school said: "This is such an exciting time.

"With the new early years foundation stage being implemented this year we have been able to use this to ensure that the new building will be able to cover the six areas of learning and fulfill the requirements purposely and support the children on their learning journey."

The parachute team is hoping to raise £1,000 for the new building. Anyone who would like to sponsor the group can call (01440) 783688 or visit www. thurlowpre-school.co.uk to find out more.

Wills boost for hospice

TWO Haverhill solicitors have helped raise a bumper £11,000 for St Nicholas Hospice Care with a successful Wills Week campaign.

Representatives from the two law firms – Adams Harrison and Stevens – attended a cheque presentation last week.

a fee to the solicitor after having wills drawn up.

Haverhill resident David Harrison was one of the people who took advantage of Wills Wook

He said: "I think this a great scheme and I would recommend people taking part next year.

"I was already going to spend the money to have a will drawn up so it's great to know that we are helping St Nicholas Hospice Care at the same time.

Margaret Lee, St Nicholas Hospice care legacy officer, said: "We were delighted with the number of firms taking part in Wills Week 2008 – the most we have ever had.

"People don't realise how important it is for us to have solicitors willing to give their busy time for free so that the hospice can receive the donations"

The hospice has annual running costs of £4.8 million, with less than a quarter paid for by the Government

A scenic town full of notable attractions

FOUNDED Danish marauding pirate called Haver in the 10th century, the historical market town of Haverhill nestles in the scenic valley of the River Stour.

While its once-famous textile industry and smock-making workshops have given way to bustling shopping streets, the town is surrounded by some of the most beautiful villages in Suffolk, making it a perfect base for day-trips and walks.

Nearby Clare first made its appearance in the Domesday Book as a tiny settlement of just 600 people, at which time it boasted fields of lush vineyards. Although visitors today are unlikely to be treated to a glass of locally-produced plonk, the village offers an array of fascinating attractions. Clare Castle Country Park still retains the ruin of the small stone keep from which it takes its name, and a spiral path around the motte leads to the summit where visitors can take in spectacular views of the countryside around. Also in walking distance is a 13th century priory and a great Gothic wool church. The Stour Valley footpath leads into Kedington, and the picturesque walk into the village passes a pretty arched bridge and an 18th century watermill. The small town centre is home to one of Suffolk's most beautiful old places of Peter and St Paul, Inside the church, the family pew of the Barnardister family is testament to Kedington's history and tradition, having been used by 30 generations of the generations of the influential local family in an unbroken line. For those keen on outward bound activities, riding, fishing and rambling are also on offer.

Sleepy Steeple Bumpstead has a surprisingly bloody history, with a number of residents burned at the stake for heresy in mediaeval times Thankfully a more civilised way of life has now returned, and visitors can expect to enjoy beautiful timbered buildings, a quaint high street and an old school which has been converted into a pottery and

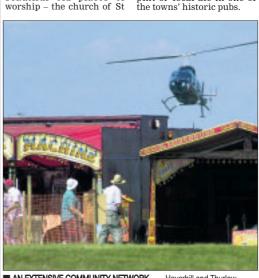

The twin townships of Greater and Little Thurlow complete the circuit of villages surrounding villages surrounding Haverhill. A walk between the two villages traverses some of the county's loveliest countryside, passing honeysuckle hedges, stiles, rose bushes and woodland.

Amazingly, several of the streams in the area are populated by crayfish and eagle-eyed ramblers can occasionally spot them crawling around from bridges and riverbanks. Like the other ancient villages in the Haverhill area, Greater and Little Thurlow are peaceful places although a trip to the high street can always be rewarded with a refreshing pint of local ale in one of the towns' historic pubs.

■ AN EXTENSIVE COMMUNITY NETWORK . . . Haverhill and Thurlow Country Show and Steam Rally held on the Little Wratting show ground is just one of many exciting events which take place in and around Haverhill.

Vaccine option for girls to curb cancer

olk are to be offered a vaccine to help protect them against potentially fatal cervical cancer.

Year 8 pupils aged 12 and 13 will be offered the human papilloma virus (HPV) vaccine against the cancer. starting later this month The disease currently affects more than 2,000 people a year in the UK, causing around 400 deaths.

The immunisation programme will be spearheaded by NHS Suffolk and will involve more than 3,600 girls.

Dr Brian Keeble, public health consultant with NHS Suffolk, said: "This vaccine protects against the viruses which cause about 70 per cent of cervical cancers, so this immunisation programme will help prevent serious illness in years to

"One of our key aims is to prevent ill health as well as cure it – and rolling out this vaccination prog-ramme will be another way in which we are fulfilling that goal."

Information will be sent out to parents and students, through schools this month, giving them more details about the vaccine, explaining how it works and gaining their consent. School nurses will then give the girls three doses of vaccine over a six-month period.

The vaccinations will not replace NHS Suffolk's cervical screening programme (smear tests) which is offered to all women from age 25.

■ DISNEY DUO . . . Ashley Oliver and Matthew Cammelle star as Beauty

CAMBRIDGE'S Corn Exchange has officially launched its annual Christmas show, and tickets are now on sale.

Stars from the Disney retelling of the favourite Beauty and the Beast gathered in Cambridge recently including local stage actor Matthew Cammelle who is finally coming home after two years on the road performing in the production.

For Matthew, who spends an hour each day in make up before he can go on stage as the Beast, Cambridge will be his swan song in the much loved show and it will be extra special for him as he lives in nearby Gamlingay with his wife and two young children. A seasoned star of West End

Things are a little easier for his costar Ashley Oliver who plays the heroine Belle, although she is on stage for most of the show and does have her fair share of costume changes.

"This dress weighs 20 pounds," she said of the spectacular ball gown she wears for some of the show's most dramatic scenes. "So it takes two people to lift it, and spinning around in it is not easy.

"I have five costume changes, one of them I have to do in just over a minute and involves five people helping me - I just stand there and

Flexibility is trumps in 308 SW

THE 308 is a good all-round hatch, rivalling the Ford Focus and Renault Mégane, doing all the things that you need from a car in that market sector.

The estate version is the more practical machine though and, although it simply looks like a hatchback with a longer boot, it is vastly different inside.

Firstly, there are seats for seven people with the standard two+three seats being joined by a third row of two seats in the boot. Secondly, all of the seats can be removed to create a load-lugger of some considerable ability. Lastly, each of the rear five seats can be removed individually – suffice to say, the 308 SW has a flexible interior in the truest sense of the

All this means that the humble motoring journalist has a great deal of difficulty trying to describe exactly what the 308 SW is as it's an estate that is more MPV-like inside than many

■ PRACTICAL . . . and seats seven.

MPVs. I think the best way to describe it is a family car, a copout I know, but by far the best description of its abilities. Whether being used for everyday duties, taking the kids and their friends to school or going on holiday, the 308 SW will more than cope with excellent levels of luggage space.

Joining the practicality on the list of positives is the specification. With good levels of kit in all of the 308 SW's models, the Sport and SE models boast a Cielo panoramic glass roof which creates a light and airy interior. The seats are comfortable and supportive even on long journeys and there are enough features to keep everyone comfy and entertained along the way. There are front, side, driver, passenger and curtain airbags and to try and prevent those from being needed ABS with electronic brake force assist is standard on all models.

The 308 SW range comes with three different varieties of petrol and diesel engines but the model I had on test, the 308 SW Sport HDi 136, had the 2.0-litre diesel unit producing 136bhp and 240lb ft of torque. The quoted combined fuel figure of 47.8mpg feels about right and tallies with the model's trip computer economy reading, and the emissions figure of 155g/km CO2 is pretty good for a car of

The engine felt strong and the torque pulled the car along smoothly and with the minimum of fuss. The power available allows for relaxed motorway cruising and the disc brakes pull you up to a sharp stop if needed. Because the 308 SW is based on a hatchback, you don't get the high centre of gravity that you have with many MPVs so the handling, dynamics, body roll and grip all compare very favurably against compare very favourably against the style that has become the

the style that has become the standard family car shape.

The biggest positive is one that is not quantifiable – the looks. The 308 SW's design is based on the hatchback's and that means it doesn't look like an MPV. If you have a family but still want to look as though you enjoy your driving, the 308 SW will offer the practical space needed but without the stigma that comes with many MPVs.

BasicallyThe 308 SW is a very practical family car that should stand the ruthless tests of children well and strong engines and nimble handling make for an involving drive for the parents.

MOTORING

Spiralling garage charges are hitting motorists hard

CAR servicing rates are rising sharply with garages charging labour rates of up to £200 an hour, it was disclosed this week.

The news comes at the same time as a survey reveals that the cost of keeping a car on the road has far outstripped the rate of inflation over the last decade. The study shows that it now

The study shows that it now costs an average of £2,395 a year for motorists to insure, service, tax and fuel a vehicle, according to price comparison firm uSwitch.com.

It added that if costs had stayed

It added that if costs had stayed in line with inflation, drivers would now be paying only £1,787.

The company also said that if running costs continued to rise at the current rate, by 2017 motorists would be paying an average of £3,659 – or a national spending figure total of £114 billion – to keep their cars on the road. The current total annual spend is £75 billion.

The car servicing part of this equation has long been under scrutiny, with campaigners – not least motoring expert Quentin Wilson – calling for a fairer structure for garage services.

New figures reveal that labour rates for mechanics have increased 11.3 per cent since the summer of 2006, with the average now £75.17 an hour, a Warranty Direct survey showed.

The average franchise dealer is now charging £94.70 an hour compared with £87.91 in 2006 – a rise of 7.7 per cent.

rise of 7.7 per cent.

The average rate for a mechanic at an independent garage has risen 14.9 per cent over the same period – from $648.44 to $55.63 £48.43 to £55.63.

Warranty Direct analysed labour rates at nearly 2,000 garages to highlight the dramatic price differences that occur across the country.

Greater London is the most

Greater London is the most expensive region at £94.26 an hour. This compares with £68.70 for Edinburgh, £78.81 across Merseyside and a similar figure of £78.01 for Cornwall.

London was also home to the most expensive dealer, charging £198.86 an hour.

Warranty Direct managing director Duncan McClure Fisher said: "This is not great news for motorists who are already feeling the pinch at the pumps."

■ WATCH THE BILLS . . . motoring costs have risen well above the rate of inflation

Ashton Berkhauer, of uSwitch.com, said: "The Government has been accused of being anti-motorist and there is little in our report to persuade Britain's drivers otherwise.

"The cost of petrol, insurance and servicing has soared, far outstripping the rate of inflation. Collectively, British drivers are forking out £19 billion more a year than they would have had to if the cost of keeping a car on the road had simply increased in line with inflation over the last decade."

Meanwhile, even though oil prices have fallen this week, no benefit will be passed on to the motorist, apparently due to the weak value of the pound. The average cost of a litre of unleaded now stands at 112p, with a litre of diesel averaging 123p.

Ford's new Fiesta gets strong residual value vote

FORD'S high-tech allnew Flesta will go on sale next month with insurance groups the same or lower than the outgoing model. Data provider CAP has set the all-new Flesta's residual value with an average rise of 7.9 per cent.

With more power, lower emissions and a host of big-car features, Britain's most stylish newcomer enters the small-car market costing £155 less than the previous generation entry model. The new typical residual value increase is £1,000. This ranges from £700 for Zetec 1.4-litre TDCI to £1,175 on Titanium 1.6-litre petrol. Savings on insurance could be around £40 with three models having the same insurance group and all others are lower: the 1.6 TDCI Zetec drops from 6E to 4E.

Ford of Britain's marketing director, Mark Ovenden, said: "All-new Fiesta is set to take Britain by storm. Already, customers are excited about the technology, style and economy they are going to get from this great new car. The package now looks more attractive with this news on residual value and competitive insurance."

■ THE FORD FIESTA . . . improved value compared to outgoing model.

Meanwhile the all-new Ford Ka makes its global debut at the 2008 Paris Motor Show. It replaces the iconic original Ka, which brought new levels of style and enjoyment to the smallcar market when it was launched in 1996.

Production of the allnew Ford K commences this autumn, and the vehicle is set to go on sale in the UK in the last quarter of 2008/early 2009.

Always over 200 used cars in stock.

BECOME A MULTI-SKILLED ENERGY ASSESSOR

By law trained Energy Assessors will need to carry out an estimated 3 million Energy Assessments in the year from this October - 200,000 commercial buildings, 1.8 million homes being rented and 1.1 million being sold (2.1m in normal house sale years).

Applicants are therefore required to train now - no previous surveying experience is required - at our London, Bristol, Birmingham and Manchester experience is required - at our contour, bissol, printingiant and wantchester training centres which are approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment. The subsidised training is taken in separately bookable 1-week modules usually around current commitments and you qualify as a multi-skilled Domestic and Commercial Energy Assessor, Flood Risk Assessor and Home Inspector.

Homes now being sold already require Assessments with average fees of £70 being paid to our Assessors - fees for the 1.8m rented homes from October are expected to be similar. Fees for currently optional Home Inspections average £250 - commercial Assessments are expected to be higher. Up to 15 domestic Assessments or 6 commercial Assessments or Home Inspections are estimated to be carried out in a week, subject to size of properties and supply. As well as thousands of Assessors carrying out Energy Assessments, 7500 Home Inspectors will be needed upon Government making Home Inspections compulsory - less than a thousand are currently certified.

Regardless of the 'credit crunch' these new 'green' laws and 3 million Assessments are creating a rapidly expanding new industry which you could join, subject to interview and Aptitude test. So apply now for subsidised training and to start a new career carrying out this environmentally important work with potential multiple income stream opportunities.

WRATTING opened their league account with some top-quality goals in a comfortable victory.

Torode, Scotton, Bush, Lambert and Cooper were among the goals as defeated Cottenham.

Captain Stevenson revelled in his new role, linking particularly well in the opening 20 minutes with Bailey and Lambert up front.

The visitors attacked well through midfield, but Foster, Payne, Ager and Sheath (joint man-of-the-

Changes were made later in the match with Gedny, Torode, Ankers (joint man-of-the-match), Massie and Elliott all applying themselves well.

SUFFOLK SUNDAY TROPHY, FIRST ROUND

DELAWARE began the season with a first round loss to newly-formed Haverhill Town in the Suffolk Sunday Trophy.

Town started strongly, stringing together some quick passing.

Angels soon got themselves back into the game, however, with several shots going just wide of the goal and Lewis Townsend having an effort well stopped by the opposing goalkeeper.

This saw the first half end in a 0-0 score line. Like the first period, Town were the quicker starters in the second half with good work down the Clare's player call

■ MEET WITH THE BEAT . . . Members of Haverhilled Ipswich Town ISC with their president Kevin Beattie.

Tractor Boys' supporters back team - and charity

PSWICH Town FC may have seen some changes recently with a new owner but a relatively recently-formed supporters' club in Haverhill has seen a spectacular rise since it started up. The Ipswich Town Independent SC was formed two seasons ago, and, since then it has grown from a tiny acorn to one of the best supporters' club in East Anglia. The reason we are "independent" is because there is already an Ipswich Town supporters club in the town and we wanted our own identity. Our name is now well-known worldwide as our membership spans many countries, including Serbia, Australia, Denmark. Since our formation, we have managed to get the legend Kevin Beattie to become our president and have many honorary members, such as Sir Bobby Robson, John Wark, Roger Osborne, Paul Mariner and even the drummer of the Editors, Ed Lay, (who is a Town fan), plus many more top names. Our website was recently mentioned as one of the best around and even this is about to improve as we now have our own clothing range, which can soon be viewed online at www.itisc.org.uk Last season, ITISC raised more than £1,000 for the MS Society, as Beattie's wife sadly suffers from multiple sclerosis. We did this not by the usual car boots, iumble sales or quizzes, but by making a record of the club's anthem, doing a 45-mile run from Haverhill to Inswich Town's ground and holding an auction at the Rose Tavern pub. This year, Sir Bobby Robson asked if we Haverhill-based fans of the Tractor Boys have been busy, supporting not only their team, but also charities.

MALCOLM THOMPSON, founder and chairman of the Ipswich Town Independent SC, gives an insight into the work of his club.

could raise cash for his foundation. We were proud to be asked and had no hesitation in saying YES! In February, I will be cycling from Ipswich Town FC to Preston North End FC (the venue of the team's away game). It is about 180 miles and will take a week to complete.

If you would like to sponsor me, please send a cheque made payable to Sir Bobby Robson Foundation to PO Box 150, Haverhill, Suffolk. CB9 8QB. Also in April, we have Kevin Beattie coming to Haverhill with more ex-players, hopefully bringing the FA Cup with them. This night will also see an auction and raffle and many top stars, such as Sir Bobby, Frank Skinner and Carol Vorderman, plus many more have all donated personal prizes for what promises to be a night all Town fans and football supporters should not miss. To top this off, we will be holding a charity golf day, hopefully with many top footballers in attendance. We travel to all the home games and the majority of the away games and each member gets a monthly newsletter. If you would like to join us or attend any of our functions, please email me on info@itisc.org.uk for more information. Membership is free.

FOOTBALL: FA VASE, FIRST QUALIFYING ROUND

Cutts nips in to claim Vase glory

A LATE strike by Craig Cutts gained Rovers a welcome - if not surprise FA Vase victory over Ely City at Hamlet Croft on Saturday.

At times, Rovers were forced to hang on grimly and defend in numbers, but ultimately their efforts were rewarded as they dumped their Ridgeons League, Premier Division counterparts out of the competition and earned themselves a place in the second qualifying round.

Ely held the upperhand opening half as Rovers' goalkeeper Ed Campbell was kept busy foiling Martin Westcott and Robbie Mason (twice), while Dean Blackman also rattled the home crossbar.

Haverhill's best opportunity of the first period came a minute before the break when Mark Abbs' back-heel from Tom Shearer's cross was spilt by Ely keeper Lee Pacey, who managed to recover and parry Cutts' follow-up effort and collect the loose ball.

The second half opened with Campbell producing a good point-blank save from David Smith.

Haverhill were dealt a blow on the hour-mark when Gareth Thomas and Neil Hammond cracked heads

Thomas went off to hospital for stitches to a cut above his right eve. while Hammond returned to the field with a bandage around his head.

Haverhill battled on with

Abbs having a tame shot saved, while, at the other end, with 12 minutes to go, Ely substitute Andy Pettit had an effort ruled out for offside.

Haverhill then went in search of a home victory with Joe Harvey firing wide at the near post from Hammond's low cross after 83 minutes.

The home side got the break they needed in the 86th minute when Campbell made a clearance just outside his area. An Ely defender could only flick the ball into Cutts' path, leaving the Rovers' man to run on to it and place his shot past the prone Pacey into the bottom right corner of the net.

Mason's volley two minutes later almost doubled Rovers'
